Dear Royce:

Once again I would very much appreciate comments on this, hopefully, final version of the FOIA Bill. Unless anyone has a major substantive problem with it, this one will go to the Members of the HPSCI on Tuesday.

This, as you will doubtlessly agree, is no panacea; it is a litigator's nightmare in many ways. However, it is the best we could come up with and still get agreement. The reason we have accepted it despite its many flaws is that it still meets our essential need: to get our operating components out of the FOIA process as much as possible. Unfortunately (or perhaps fortunately) it provides new challenges for litigators.

I would very much appreciate your having someone look at it, particularly to find any major problems that we may have overlooked, and give me a call. Thanks.

Sincerely,

Deputy Director, Office of Legislative Liaison
